THE COMPANY

Kickster is a consultancy company specialized in Climate Change and Sustainability. Our integrated approach, the deep knowledge of policies and the methodology applied to the different dimensions of sustainability guarantee to all our clients to obtain actual results and to reduce the risks within their own organization. With a turnover of over 8 million euros, Kickster is among the main players in the management of environmental assets and consultancy on climate policies.

ACCREDITED ADVISERS

KNOW-HOW

Our team is composed of advisors with wide knowledge and expertise in climate change and sustainability policies with (CO2 reduction, carbon footprint, renewable energy, energy efficiency, sustainable development). Kickster offers a comprehensive approach to implement sustainability strategies, circular economy projects and ESG performance evaluation. Our consultancy activity on corporate sustainability concerns the definition, development and implementation of sustainability strategies at all corporate levels, including engagement actions; our know-how developed in the energy and environment sectors allows us to have an approach that is compliant with international policies and our innovative spirit distinguishes our company from other big consultancy firms.

ASSOCIATIONS

We offer an integrated approach to be compliant with obligations deriving from European and national policies on environment, energy, mobility and circular economy. We are involved in several strategic projects on decarbonization and energy transition, as well as the development of programs in line with the European Green Deal. We are able to provide advice on the “stranded assets” topic and on the corporate risk management as a result of the changed environmental and policy scenarios. We study the integration of the environmental sustainably in corporate values in the development of ESG criteria. Our approach is characterized by interdisciplinarity, transversality and cooperation in the strategic consultancy we provide to complex organization - also thanks to innovative solutions – in the green sector.

BUSINESS AND SUSTAINABILITY STRATEGIES

The integration of sustainability in the business strategy is part of our daily work when providing advice to our clients. The tridimensional approach to sustainability, which involves the economic, environmental and social spheres allows us to verify the objectivity of the goals and the business resilience.

RESILIENCE AND INNOVATION

A person wearing a tactical vest and helmet stands in a desert landscape. The vest has pouches and equipment. The background shows a hazy, mountainous terrain under a cloudy sky. The overall tone is serious and professional.

We participate in several development projects both for companies and for Agencies and Institutions based on innovation, sustainability and cooperation among parties. The sustainability topics and more generally the climate change ambit are creating new opportunities for the various economic operators: the creation of a medium/long term vision and the economic challenges are analyzed in an active process of transformation and adaptation in order to generate value for each client. The new challenges that organizations must face make a resilience strategy necessary to create value and to be compliant with the SDGs criteria.

The ground is a light-colored, dusty surface with some shadows. In the background, a large, bright, hazy glow represents the Earth's horizon or a distant celestial body, creating a high-contrast, golden-yellow atmosphere. The overall image has a vintage, slightly grainy quality.

RECENT EXPERIENCES

POINT OF VIEW

“Doing the right thing is never easy.

What are we really talking about when we talk about climate change?

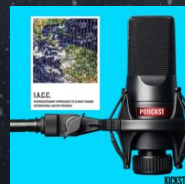

Does it depend on the point of view, on emotions?

The answer is not straight because it refers to a new way to live and to approach things, by taking into consideration all the anthropic activities”.

PIETRO VALAGUZZA - CEO KICKSTER

We promote information and education activities on the topics of green business, sustainability and climate change. We produce and distribute a series of PodCasts on climate change (carbon markets and environment, green business) to broadcast the topics of energy transition and Green New Deal. We want to create more awareness on the tools, strategies and goals of the 2030 agenda and 2050 carbon neutrality. The PodCasts are realized with an interdisciplinary approach to increase the engagement of people and companies, who with their choices and their behaviors can reach goals and carry out actual actions aimed at the economic, social, governance and environmental sustainability.
